I agree that The Center does not need my approval of any finished product or any specific use of my story or image. I agree that The Center may regard this authorization as a consent under the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 (HIPAA) for further disclosure of my PHI, as may be included in my story.

This authorization for use is effective from this date, and the story may be used or reused indefinitely by The Center in the future. I understand that no payment will be made to me for the use of these materials, and I agree not to seek any form of compensation from The Center related to the use of my story. I understand that I can revoke my consent at any time for future uses of my story, but I understand that any form of media which has already been published, planned or to which The Center has committed will still proceed.

I waive any and all claims against The Center arising from the use of my story in any material selected by The Center or related to any blurring, cropping, distortion, alteration or use in composite form that may occur in the creation and processing of the media. This waiver includes any claims for libel or breach of privacy.

I hereby certify that I am at least 18 years of age, that the story is entirely factual and that I am the individual represented by the story. I understand that, if it is determined that I have misrepresented either the facts or my identity, The Center may pursue legal action against me for such fraudulent misrepresentation. I hereby indemnify and will defend The Center from and against any and all liability or claims of any kind by a third party connected to The Center's reliance upon and use of the story I have submitted.
